Linguistics is the scientific and humanistic study of language. This inter-disciplinary program will familiarize you with the analytical tools needed to understand the internal functioning of language, as well as the historical and social variations in language. Through Linguistics you will become acquainted with applications of linguistic theory in areas such as child language acquisition, second language acquisition, and language change and variation. In addition, studying Linguistics will let you explore provocative and interdisciplinary concepts such as: the 'innateness' of human language, language evolution and extinction, machine language and human language, individual and social views of language, language correctness and even the idea of a melodious language.

Students are encouraged to register for a French language course at their level of competence and to continue to at least the French 1900E/1910 level in order to be able to take advantage in later years of linguistics offerings taught in French.

WOMEN'S STUDIES AND FEMINIST RESEARCH

www.uwo.ca/womens ▶ Lawson Hall 3260 ▶ 519-661-3759

Explore the dynamics that shape your everyday experiences as a gendered person in contemporary culture. In our courses you will learn how to develop a critical perspective that takes factors such as sex, gender, sexuality, race, class and disability into account. You might find your worldview transformed as you apply these perspectives to your study in other classes and, in fact, to all aspects of your life. Our courses reflect an expanding field of feminist research including feminist theories, sexuality studies, critical race studies, masculinities, health, queer and legal issues, violence against women and children, equity, feminist global issues, and women in creative arts.

Note: Women's Studies is a department in both Faculty of Arts and Humanities, and Faculty of Social Science. Therefore, students may count Women's Studies 1020E or 1021F/G and 1022F/G as either a Category A or B credit, when considering their breadth requirements. Students must complete first-year requirements to be eligible for these modules.
